

GRAND Value Paths™

Sequential Review - Process Focus

- Have a more structured approach to managing your area of responsibility. Identify your specific reports, visuals, analytics content, and dashboards that you want to review weekly, monthly or quarterly, or even annually.
- Establish a custom portal that defines the management review in a series of steps (i.e. workflow format) built for the Responsible Manager. Review a dozen reports or informational content which you find most critical to your weekly review process. Include content across multiple business processes, functional areas, or data sources.
- Use a CEO-directed custom portal that shows the defined workflow review, and simply click on each step to efficiently garnish the actionable insights from relevant visualizations and dashboards along with the associated mash-ups and reports.

Sequential Review, as part of our fundamental approach to Decision Making, helps you learn what you don't already know about your Business and institutionalize sound Managerial Decision Making. Utilizing our Strategic and Operational Decision Support System(s), you can navigate through the maze of Business and Operational Complexity; thus, accelerating time to actionable Business Insights and Analytics Content across your organization.*